

References used in the article:

Keep the AI Eye on the Prize: How humans can interact with AI to ensure the common good

Thérèse Rottner, IMBA participant at IE Business School, puts the spotlight on the rapid rise of AI use across sectors and how employees and society can cope with the change – for the benefit of business and also the common good.

Bibliography

- Eric Hal Schwartz, 'Open AI confirms 400 million weekly ChatGPT users', Tech Radar Website, 22nd February 2025
- 'Code Global Challenge', IBM Newsroom, 26th February 2020
- 'Seven promising innovations of artificial intelligence across the DRM cycle', World Meteorological Organization, 29th July 2024
- 'mRNA and Artificial Intelligence for Advanced Vaccine Innovation', Pfizer Website, accessed on 7th May 2025
- Priya Joi, 'Using Ai from lab to jab: how did artificial intelligence help us develop and deliver COVID-19 vaccines?', Gavi Vaccine Alliance, 27th February 2025
- Angelucci, Ruixue Ai, Piendel, Cerman, Hort, 'Integrating AI in fighting advancing Alzheimer', Current Opinion on Structural Biology, Volume 28 August 2024
- Robert C. Brears, 'Precision Agriculture, AI, and Water Efficiency: The Future of Farming', Medium, 3rd May 2023
- 'AI models are dreaming up the materials of the future', The Economist, 5th March 2025
- 'AI Cities: Transforming Smart Urban Development with Artificial Intelligence', Venturous Group, 6th October 2024
- Rob Gibson, 'The Impact of AI in Advancing Accessibility for Learners with Disabilities', Educause, 10th September 2024
- Kristen Sunday, 'AI for Legal Aid', Thomson Reuters, 15th October 2024
- 'AI For Good Lab', Microsoft Website, accessed on 7th May 2025
- Jeff Dean & Jacquelline Fuller, 'AI for Social Food', Google Blog Website, 29th October 2018
- 'AI For Good Global Summit', AI For Good Website, accessed on 7th May 2025
- 'AI Principles', OECD Website, accessed on 7th May 2025
- 'Principles and approach', Microsoft Responsible AI Website, accessed on 7th May 2025

Council on Business & Society: <https://www.council-business-society.org/>